“MY PRACTICE HAS ALLOWED ME TO EXPLORE UNIQUE APPROACHES TO MAKING. THROUGH THE PROGRAM I HOPE TO UTILISE THE OPPORTUNITY TO EXPAND ON CURRENT WORKS AND EXPERIMENT WITH NEW METHODS AND TECHNIQUES TO INFORM FUTURE PROJECTS.”

BIOGRAPHY

SATURDAY YARD WORK by Nathan Martin is a Tarntanya (Adelaide) based practice that aims to find a medium between sculpture, craft, and functional objects, through experimentation of material and processes. Nathan looks to the unorthodox methods of production and through this, seeks to find surprising visual and sensory results displayed through form and texture. In the creation of one-off pieces, Nathan's experimental and process-led design approach aims to celebrate the offbeat, the ugly, and all nuances of hand produced objects.
